

'Ghost Village' Explored Deep In Everglades

Swamp Haven Linked To Distant Past

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Sept. 23 (AP)—Members of two expeditions today described a "Ghost Village" deep in the Everglades as a link with the distant past and a moonshiners' haven of 40 years ago.

The village was built on an island six to eight feet above the level of other hummocks in the area, the edge of the big cypress swamp. It is about 35 miles west of Fort Lauderdale.

The island apparently had been cultivated long ago, hand-wrought nails were used in construction. Years later, moonshiners operated there, with a sugar mill to turn out their basic ingredient.

To reach the village, the two expeditions traveled in flat-bottomed boats equipped with airplane propellers to skim over the shallow water. When the airboats could go no further, members of the expeditions hacked their way the last few weary miles through thick jungle growth.

Reporters for the Fort Lauderdale Daily News and Miami Daily News and photographers made up the expeditions. They were guided by Lonnie P. Harvey, a game warden who first discovered the village three years ago.

No Records Found

Don Pett, Miami Daily News reporter, said there was no writing and no records of any kind at the site.

Mrs. Marie Crone, Fort Lauderdale Daily News photographer, said she believes the real story of the island is buried under three feet of rotting vegetation and earth that was blown or washed in and that the buried part represents something old and historical, dating back centuries.

The sugar mill was part of the moonshine operation. It bore the name "Golden" made 1905-06. The machinery was dated in Columbus, Ga.

It was a mammoth "one-off" operation, she said. The mill made sugar for the distillery. There was an old-fashioned booting apparatus, bottling equipment, vats for mash; huge Spanish-type bottles with long necks and oval, almost heart-shaped bodies, holding five and 10 gallons apiece.

Veteran Indicted For Killing 13 In Camden, N. J. Orgy

Camden, N. J., Sept. 23 (AP)—Howard B. Unruh was indicted yesterday for the mass slaying of 13 persons in a 20-minute shooting orgy on River Road Sept. 6.

Sixteen bills of indictment were returned by the Camden county Grand Jury—13 for the persons slain and one each for the three victims wounded by the ex-artilleryman.

Sixty witnesses were on hand to describe Unruh's brief reign of terror but the Grand Jury summoned only six and then dismissed two of those.

Further action on the indictments will depend upon the results of mental tests being made on Unruh at the New Jersey State hospital in Trenton. If he is declared sane, the indictments will be pressed and he will be tried for murder. If judged insane, he may be committed for life.

CLUBBER CONVICTED

Detroit (AP)—Daniel Maracki, 58, was convicted Thursday of second degree murder in the fatal clubbing of his friend, Anthony Sawicki after an argument over a $5 debt.

Sleeping Potion Deaths Checked

Druggist Arrested In New York Drive

New York City, Sept. 23 (AP)—Eight New York City druggists were under arrest today as state and city authorities pressed a drive against sale of sleeping pills without prescriptions.

The crackdown was spurred by a mounting death toll from overdoses of sleeping pills.

Two of the eight druggists booked on charges yesterday were said to have done a lucrative business in sleeping tablets among persons in the Broadway theatrical district.

At the request of the health department, police said, a special subsection of the narcotics squad for more than two months has been checking on reported violations at 200 of the city's 4,000 druggists.

Assistant Health Commissioner Jerome Trichter, working with police in the drive, said "barbiturates are closely tied to the problem of narcotic control."

"It has been our experience," he added, "that drug addicts secure barbiturates in order to sustain themselves when they cannot get their regular supply of narcotics."

Trichter said use of sleeping pills, without medical supervision, contributes to "crime and accidents because it allays fears and reduces inhibitions."

The department reported that there were 661 cases last year of poisoning from overdoses of the pills, and 500 cases so far this year.

The death toll from such overdoses showed a steady climb from 156 in 1945 to 200 in 1948, the department said.

Devalued Canada Dollars To Spur Bargain Hunters

Detroit, Sept. 23. (AP)—Canadian merchants today relied on the "Scotch" in American shoppers and their own devalued dollar to attract a weekend rush of "foreign" buyers.

Stores in Windsor, Ont.—just across the Detroit river—have large window signs advertising the ten per cent premium on the American "buck."

With devaluation, the U. S. dollar is worth $1.10 there.

The proprietors hope to lure the thrifty Detroiters over to take advantage of the savings. One butcher already has cut the prices of his steaks and chops by four cents a pound.

A little trouble may come, however, from Canada's custom rules. They provide that not more than $5 worth of groceries can be taken out by individual shoppers. An exception is beef, on which there is no limit.

American customs officers are a little more lenient. They ignore duty charges of $1 or less. Officials also point out that rates on foods and tourist commodities recently have been reduced.

Barkley's $2,500 Medal Worth $450

Washington, Sept. 23 (AP)—Vice President Barkley ever melts down that $2,500 gold medal Congress voted to give him, he will find it is worth only about $450. It will come in a $10 leather case. The manufacturing cost will be $450. The rest of the money, $1,500, will go to the sculptor who designed the medal.

A Senate appropriations subcommittee developed these facts at a hearing on the proposed expenditure.

Coal Diggers On No-Day Week; Long Tieup Seen

By HAROLD W. WARD

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Sept. 23 (AP)—With John L. Lewis' miners on a "no day work week," a long coal strike seemed possible today.

That term was coined by Lewis himself in describing the walkout which has kept the nation's 480,000 miners off the job since Monday. He indicated the no-day week will stay in force until a new contract is reached.

Fray Postponed On Civil Rights

Congress Puts Issue Over To Next Year

By BARNEY LIVINGSTONE
Washington, Sept. 23 (AP)—The big civil rights battle in Congress seems likely to be postponed until next year.

That goes for the House as well as the Senate, which already has shown signs of letting the whole issue slide for the remainder of this session.

A quiet move is underway among House supporters of President Truman's civil rights program to hold off action for strategic reasons until the 1950 session.

As their prime January target, they are lining up the administration's fair employment practices (FEPC) bill. This measure, which would prohibit racial or religious discrimination in employment and trade union membership, already is set to go to the House floor.

But Chairman Lesinski (D-Mich.) said an understanding has been reached within the labor committee not to press for action until the second session of the 81st Congress, which begins in January.

Chairman Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) of the Senate Labor committee yesterday expressed hope of getting his group to approve a similar bill under a similar agreement.

"We could never get the bill out of committee if we had any intention of calling it up this year," he said.

There were signs that Senate action on the rest of Mr. Truman's civil rights program will be put off as well.

Captain Of Noronic Denies He Was Tipsy During Fire Disaster

Cleveland, Sept. 23 (AP)—Attorneys for Canada Steamship Lines, Inc., threatened today to file a $250,000 libel or slander suit against anyone maintaining the captain of the ship Noronic was drunk when fire struck his ship at Toronto.

"That is the most positive denial I can make," said Frank Wilkinson, attorney for the line in Toronto, after C. Ralph Willson of Cleveland testified here he thought Captain William Taylor was intoxicated during the fire.

The captain himself denied vigorously that he was drunk when reached in a Toronto hospital. He is recuperating there from burns received in the Saturday morning blaze that took some 132 lives.

United Mine Workers' chief bluntly rejected a two-year extension of the old contract yesterday. He declared the current dispute in the steel industry was blocking a wage settlement for miners.

Lewis and operators of the north and west, who have been meeting at this resort at intervals through the summer, recessed their talks until September 29.

Lewis on July 1 directed the miners to work a three-day week indefinitely without a contract, and that seemed to mean he was abandoning the historic "no contract, no work" policy.

But the shaggy-browed mine leader told a news conference last night that the miners, finding themselves without a contract, are now "exercising their options" to quit work.

He said the coal diggers want new wages, hours, and working conditions to "supersede" their old agreement.

Lewis said that the miners patiently had worked the short week without a contract since July 1, but had acted as individuals—practically in the absence of any yank or nod from Lewis when they quit work last Monday.

Streets Ripped Up In New York

Repair Spree Makes Motorists Mutter

By ED CREAGH
New York, Sept. 23 (AP)—Commuting to New York?

Fly here, then. Or take a train or bus. But don't drive.

The streets of midtown Manhattan are torn up like the straw in the bottom of a puppy's kennel, and the odds in favor of your landing in the bottom of an excavation are at least six to one.

This is the stern counsel of William J. (Boxer) Sheridan, taxi driver, Brooklyn booster, and firm believer that the city fathers are in a conspiracy to make life difficult for cabbies. Especially for Boxer.

"Look it," he sneered, waving an arm at 42nd street. "Steam shovels. Rollers. Sidewalk superintendents. This is the biggest yoked town in America. Only here they don't roll up the sidewalks. They tear up the pavements."

"On Columbus Circle it's worse—if there could be such a thing. Also Fifty-first between Broadway and Eighth. To say nuttin' of Fifty-third between Park and Madison. Traffic? Who calls it traffic any more? It's a funeral procession."

Boxer told only part of the story. New York's street-repair spree also has sections of 26th and 39th streets in shreds and is 'appening at the gutters of 72nd street.

But 42nd street of song and story is the big job—$332,000 worth of resurfacing, car-track removal and traffic confusion beyond belief. It won't be over until Christmas time, either.

Thrill Slayer Leopold Seeks Prison Parole

Chicago Killer May Get Out In 1953

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 23. (AP)—Nathan Leopold, Chicago thrill slayer of young Bobby Franks in 1924, now has a chance for parole in 1953.

Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois has cut the 44-year-old murderer's prison sentence from 99 to 85 years.

This makes Leopold, scion of a wealthy Chicago family, eligible to apply for parole in January, 1953, instead of in September, 1957—a difference of four and two thirds years.

Commutation was unanimously recommended by the state pardon board. It is Leopold's reward for good conduct in prison and for voluntarily risking his life in wartime prison experiments seeking a cure for malaria. Some other so-called "guinea pig" prisoners have got similar rewards.

Leopold and Richard (Dickie) Loeb were convicted of murder Sept. 10, 1924 in the kidnap killing of Bobby Franks, 14 year old son of a millionaire neighbor.

Case Shocks Nation
Loeb was slain in prison in 1936. He was knifed by another prisoner—later acquitted of a murder charge—who said Loeb made an indecent proposal to him.

The sensational killing of the Franks boy shocked the nation. The lad's nude body, the head experience the "thrill" of killing, and wanted money although their families were wealthy.

At their murder trial they were defended by the late Clarence Darrow, famous criminal lawyer. They pleaded guilty during a 32-day trial. But prosecutors failed to send them to the gallows.

The trial judge called it "atrocious," and urged that they never be paroled.

Senate Approves $1,314,010,000 For Foreign Arms Aid

By DON WHITEHEAD

Washington, Sept. 23. (AP)—The administration chalked up an important victory in foreign policy today on the strength of the senate's 55 to 24 approval of an overseas arms program.

The senate reached its decision late yesterday to rearm friendly nations after beating down two moves to make a $200,000,000 cut in the $1,314,010,000 arms bill.

The measure came through the senate with only two minor changes. This was in part a personal triumph for Senator Connally (D-Tex.) and Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), the two party leaders in foreign affairs who led the fight for the aid program.

Nineteen Republicans joined 36 Democrats in voting for passage. Ten Democrats and 14 Republicans voted against it.

The biggest surprise in the voting was the administration's strength in defeating an economy move which had worried senate leaders. The decisive vote was 46 to 32 against an amendment by Senator George (D-Ga.) to trim $200,000,000 off the $1,000,000,000 set aside in the arms aid program for western Europe.

A short time before the vote, the administration forces claimed no more than a four-vote margin. Connally said a vigorous behind-the-scenes campaign switched over some votes in the final minutes.

As the senate bill now stands, it provides: $1,000,000,000 for re-arming North Atlantic pact nations. Half would be in cash and half in contract authority; $211,370,000 for Greece and Turkey; $27,640,000 for Iran, Korea and the Philippines.

And $75,000,000 for the China area to be spent at the discretion of the president.

Part of these funds would be used to process and ship $450,000,000 worth of surplus, U. S. military equipment overseas. The value of this equipment is in addition to the total arms aid. The house made all its reductions in the sum for western Europe. It provided nothing for China but its figures were the same as the senate's for the other countries.

Amendment Rejected
Once the George amendment was beaten, the senate:

(1) Defeated 47 to 31 an amendment by Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) to require that the aid be used for the purchase of arms.

Dickers May Dispel Steel Strike Clouds Hovering Since July

Pittsburgh, Sept. 23 (AP)—Agreement of U. S. Steel Corporation and United Steelworkers to renew contract talks today broke up strike clouds hovering over the industry since July.

Union chairman Philip Murray and vice president Jon A. Stephens of U. S. Steel Corporation arranged a hotel conference at 1:30 p. m. Eastern standard time to resume negotiations under a three-day presidential strike truce.

Murray had proposed a 9:30 a. m. session but shortly before that hour came announcement both sides had agreed on the afternoon date. Conferences with other steel companies are being arranged by the union.

Meantime, about 2,400 union members at two Pittsburgh district steel mills continued unauthorized walkouts which union and company officials blamed on the tension and uncertainty of the steel situation. Closed are the Universal-Cyclops Steel Co. plant in Bridgeville, and the Superior Steel Co. plant in suburban Carnegie.

Contact negotiators have one week in which to thrash out pension and insurance difficulties that three times have brought the nation to the brink of a paralyzing steel strike.

Talks with the United States Steel are expected to set the pattern of the conferences with other steel producers. Big steel and the union usually determine the course taken by the entire industry.

The union also arranged for new conferences with Crucible Steel Company, Allegheny-Ludlum Steel Corporation; Sharon Steel Corporation; Shenango-Penn Mould; Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation; Youngstown Sheet and Tub Co. at Youngstown, O.; Rustless Steel Company, at Baltimore; and Republic Steel Company at Cleveland.

The million member steel union has delayed its strike deadline from Saturday midnight to 12:01 a. m. (EST) October 1. That was in response to a plea by President Truman to extend the steel truce six more days. The industry had earlier agreed to the extension and said it was ready to bargain.

The Steelworkers Union, which set the time and place of the "big steel" talks, also told 52 other steel companies it is ready to negotiate.

The basis for the talks will be the recommendations of President Truman's steel fact finding board. The board vetoed a wage increase but recommended a company paid pension and insurance program equal to 10 cents hourly per worker.

False Application For Jobless Pay Results In Arrest

Simon McDermott of Bark River pleaded guilty in justice court Thursday to a charge of falsifying an application for unemployment compensation. The complaint was filed by the office of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation commission.

McDermott was accused of providing the commission with false information regarding his earnings during a period for which he claimed unemployment compensation. The period in question involved 11 weeks from last December to March, during which McDermott drew about $120 in unemployment compensation.

He was ordered by the court to make restitution to the state the amount of money illegally secured from the compensation commission. The case is the first such action brought in justice court in Escanaba, and the second in the county. A similar action against an

Woman Bitten By Cat Is Given Rabies Treatment; Danger In County Cited

A Delta county woman who resides north of Rapid River today was receiving Pasteur treatment for rabies (hydrophobia) after state laboratory examination of a dead cat that had bitten her disclosed that the cat had rabies.

The announcement also brought a warning from Dr. William C. Harrison, director of the Delta-Menominee health district, that rabies is present in the community and that proper precautions should be taken to safeguard human life.

The woman, whose name is withheld at the request of her physician, last week was bitten on the arm by the cat. The cat died last Saturday and the head of the animal was cut off and sent to the laboratory of the state health department at Lansing.

Yesterday the report was received that the cat had rabies and immediate antirabic treatment of the woman was started.

It was the first positive report of rabies being present in animals in Delta county in at least six years, perhaps longer, according to local health department records.

Dr. Harrison said further investigation is being conducted and that it may be necessary for rabies treatment to be given the person who cut off the head of the cat.

The laboratory finding reveals that rabies is present in the community; that any animal suspected of rabies should not be killed but confined until it is determined definitely whether the animal has rabies, Dr. Harrison said. This period of confinement for observation should be for 10 days.

Treatment of persons bitten by rabid animals must begin before the symptoms appear, for rabies is always fatal once it develops. Its development usually can be prevented by the Pasteur antirabic treatment, for which materials are furnished free by the state health department.

Prevention Possible

The prevention of rabies after a mad animal bite is possible, because it usually takes a comparatively long time for the disease to develop after infection. In man the average incubation period is from two to six weeks. However, the closer the wound is to the brain, the more quickly the symptoms of rabies may appear. Hence bites on the neck and head are the most dangerous.

Rabies is caused by a virus that attacks the brain and spinal cord. The virus is present in the saliva of a rabid animal. In all cases of animal bite there is the possibility that rabies will develop. The disease is spread mainly by the bite of rabid dogs, but foxes, cats, squirrels, coyotes, cows, horses, swine—in fact any warm-blooded animal—may have the disease and give it to humans.

There have been 123 reports of rabid animals in Michigan this year to Sept. 16, an increase of six for the week. Four of the rabid animals were from Macomb county, where strict rabies quarantine is in effect; one in Detroit city and one in Cass county. Quarantine has also been established in about eight other Lower Peninsula counties.

21-Day Treatment

No human cases have been reported, although antirabic treatment has been given in numerous cases. The Pasteur treatment continues for the patient for 21 days.

In citing the danger to humans in the community, Dr. Harrison said that a new state law allows county boards of supervisors to require vaccination of all dogs before they are licensed, without prior declaration by the director of agriculture that rabies is present in the county. The vaccination of dogs once a year is a protection for the animal and for man.

Any animal bite should receive immediate treatment by a physician, and the animal should be confined for observation. If the animal must be killed to protect others, the brain should not be destroyed.

U. P. United On Airmail Petition

THE communities served by Nationwide Airlines are uniting in support of Nationwide's application for an airmail franchise to the Upper Peninsula and authority to add Green Bay and Grand Rapids to its route.

At present Nationwide Airlines has no official recognition from the Civil Aeronautics Board. Its franchise to serve the Upper Peninsula has been given by the state aeronautics board. Nationwide is now seeking CAB certification and authority to provide airmail service.

The resolution adopted at the meeting of the U. P. Air Transportation committee at Houghton this week reveals a significant trend in the attitude of the Upper Peninsula cities. Previously the committee sought assurance from Wisconsin Central Airlines, which possesses a franchise to serve the Upper Peninsula, that WC would soon institute service. This time the committee requested the CAB to continue suspension of service by Wisconsin Central to all points in Michigan until the expiration of the present temporary certificate of public convenience and necessity.

The tone of the resolution clearly reveals an attitude of disgust by Upper Peninsula communities regarding Wisconsin Central's policy of inaction. Now the communities are asking the CAB to let Wisconsin Central's franchise die a natural death and to issue a franchise to Nationwide Airlines.

The addition of Green Bay and Grand Rapids to the Nationwide Airlines route, as sought in the application, would provide links to established airmail routes throughout the country.

Population Estimates Are Not Discouraging

THE Department of Health population estimates for the Upper Peninsula indicate a loss of about 8.6% from the 1940 figures compiled by the U. S. Census Bureau. Delta county's loss, according to the health department, is somewhat smaller than the average, 3.7%.

The health officials' estimate is, of course, an estimate and nothing more. The actual population trends in the peninsula will be evident when the 10-year census is taken in 1950. The basis for the health department estimates, however, seem sound and it would not be surprising if the official count in 1950 substantiates the general estimates of the health department.

A population shift from the peninsula was evidenced during the war years when war factories clamored for workers at higher wages than were available in the Upper Peninsula. Many of those workers have since returned but a lot of them have not returned.

A slowing down of business activity, however, will mean an upward shift in population in this area. The trend already is apparent. The low point in Upper Michigan population was reached several years ago and we are once again on the upgrade.

New business enterprises are developing in the peninsula. Local programs, such as that promoted here by the industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce, have helped in this objective. Now the U. P. Development Bureau, in conjunction with the state economic development commission, is promoting a similar program for the entire peninsula. The goal, of course, is to cash in on the decentralization of industry in this country.

At one time the Upper Peninsula was almost exclusively a producer of raw materials, such as rough lumber, iron ore and copper. Today the emphasis is being placed upon the processing of at least some of these raw materials, particularly in the woods industries. Considerable research is being conducted towards these objectives to provide more employment for more people in the Upper Peninsula.

Certainly the population figures of the health department, even conceding that they are probably accurate, are no cause for pessimism or discouragement.

Early Peace In Cold War Unlikely

SECRETARY OF STATE Acheson's speech to the United Nations assembly Wednesday contained a conciliatory tone, an indication that the United States is eager to bring about peaceful settlement of the cold war. Acheson, in fact, said that cold war peace is possible even though no quick or simple solution to the differences between Communist-dominated lands and the western powers is apparent.

The secretary of state then proceeded to enumerate the major issues confronting the world powers. They are, he said, the Balkan problem, Korea, Palestine, Italy's African colonies, economic development of backward areas, violation of human rights in Communist lands, atomic control, and arms regulations. Most of these problems, although not all of them, constitute differences between Russia and her satellites on the one hand and the United States, Britain, France and other western powers on the other.

The United Nations charter provides for the settlement of these and other world problems by peaceful means, by negotiation and compromise. Unfortunately, Russia has failed to follow the spirit if not the letter of the UN charter with the result that the world, not yet recovered from the most devastating conflict in history, is once again confronted with sharp differences and a constant threat of war.

Hopes for world peace still are abundant in all lands but everyone realizes that major changes in the attitudes of nations are essential before there can be any guarantee of a lasting peace. Any material change, of course, must come from Russia because it is the Russians who have fomented discord and spread suspicion and mistrust.

Despite Secretary Acheson's words of optimism at the United Nations assembly, there is little reason to believe that peace in the cold war is possible under existing circumstances. Not a single bit of evidence has developed within the past year to indicate that Russia is willing to join with the nations of the world to work together sincerely for world peace. On the contrary, most of the developments have indicated an entirely contrary attitude.

A New Idea Outdoor Rumpus Room

DO YOU remember how you used to dig caves when you were a kid? And build brush shelters, and hack away at saplings with a hatchet that had an edge like a ruler, asks Lou Campbell in the Toledo Times.

Someone with the Michigan Conservation Department must have recalled with pleasure his cave-building days, continues Campbell. The Department has created "rumpus ranges" in 28 state parks,—areas where kids can chop logs, build shacks, dig caves, and make bonfires, all with a minimum of supervision.

Youngsters can gang together to decide what their "project" is to be. They can even build totem poles from dead young trees, and carving logs has proved so popular and so valuable in diverting jack-knives from living trees and signs that the parks division plans to establish rumpus ranges or project areas for children in all state parks.

Here is an idea, says Campbell, that other state park commissions can adopt with profit.

FINANCING THE BRIDGE

(Sault Ste. Marie News)

For many years the citizens of the eastern end of the Northern Peninsula have interested themselves in better transportation across the Straits of Mackinac. For many years The Evening News has promoted interest in the building of a bridge as the only adequate way to take care of the traffic. This summer the demands were so great that the ferries, operated efficiently as they are, could not take proper care of the tourists flocking to the Northland.

Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler has informed us that his department can and would build a bridge across the Straits if the money was provided. We understand that there are not funds available in Michigan and that the federal government must be asked for assistance. Congressman Potter is studying a plan for REC financing that we hope will be practical so that plans can be started in the near future. It will take a number of years to build a bridge that would be one of the world's greatest.

The people of Michigan are not asking that funds be diverted from the necessary building of new highways in the state. There is need for great sums for maintenance too that is within the abilities of the highway department to raise and spend in its usual efficient manner.

If Congressman Potter can work out a practical plan for financing the bridge he will be doing an important job for his district and the state of Michigan. We trust he will be successful in his efforts.

Money blown in on wet nights is money not saved for rainy days.

THE WORLD CHANGES. SO DO THE LANGUAGES

Dictionaries, like all other history books, become out of date. To serve us reliably, they must be constantly revised, re-edited, and reissued. But obviously, the new editions will be worthless to us unless we buy them.

To illustrate how our language refuses to be embalmed within the covers of old dictionaries, let me cite a few of the "correct" pronunciations as listed by such 19th century authorities as Noah Webster, Sheridan, Kirkham, Phye, et al:
Webster: "NAY-tional" for national; "CATH-olicism" for Catholicism; "deef" for deaf; "heerd" for heard; "NOT-able" for notable; "kote" for quote; "PEE-ty" for petty; "BRAY-vo" for bravo; "kriek" for creek; "KUP-board" for cupboard; "HIK-kawf" for hiccup; "ass-FALT" (both "a's" short) for asphalt; "en-SEM-b'l for ensemble; "tinny" for tiny; "tribble" for trouble; "REN-dee-vooze" for rendezvous; Sheridan: "yiss" for yes; "mee" for my; "chairsful" for cheerful; "CHAY-na" for China; "KUM-raid" for comrade; "HUZZ-iff" for housewife; "PRIV-a-see" for privacy; "leap" for leap; "med-i-SY-nal" for medicinal "obligee" for obligee; "PEE-dis" for pedals; "ba-NAY-na" for banana; "KROK-e-dill" for crocodile; "kyind" for kind.
Phye: "GLAY-moor" for glamour; "ahr-AN-sas" for Arkansas; "AY-shee-ah" for actress; "AST-mah" for asthma; "ong-one hand and the United States, Britain,

Poor Teamwork In Washington

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—A weary official of the government, after testifying before one committee of congress after another and getting raked over by a variety of conflicting opinions, was asked about teamwork in Washington.

"Oh, yes," he replied, "the government is a team all right. The quarterback calls the signals. The ball is snapped. And at that moment every member of the team turns and socks every other member of the team."

While a great deal has been done in recent months to improve the teamwork between government departments, and that improvement was conspicuous in the approach to the British crisis, there is still the sharpest kind of conflict between those who are supposedly playing on the same side. Between Democrats in the senate and members of the Truman administration a kind of guerrilla warfare has gone on.

MC CARRAN SNIPES

One of the most important and relentless snipers is Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada. Singlehanded he has held up amendments to correct inequities in the displaced persons act pledged by both Republican and Democratic parties.

McCarran, accompanied by his wife, has now gone to Europe for a visit of several weeks. Presumably he is going to chairman of the watchdog committee to look into the way in which the millions of the Economic Co-operation Administration are being spent.

That so-called watchdog committee is a bitter bone of contention between senate and house. McCarran has insisted on giving $334,000 to the watchdog. Chairman Clarence Cannon and members of the house appropriations committee have been just as stubborn in their determination that no ECA money shall go for this purpose.

As a result, the ECA appropriation has been held up since mid-summer. It is thanks to a senate-house resolution that the European aid organization is able to go on functioning, meeting commitments long since made.

FINAL DEADLINE NEAR

But the final deadline is now drawing very near. The house is not expected to get down to any practical business before Monday. Four days later, on September 30, the resolution that gives ECA a temporary life will expire.

In theory the watchdog committee sounds like a good idea. In practice it has hampered the work of the hard-working men trying to administer a difficult undertaking. In both Italy and England there have been instances in which paid employees of the watchdog committee have stepped out of the role of observer-critic and have actually assumed public authority. In one case a watchdog employee gave an interview to the Italian press, predicting certain changes in policy.

ECA Administrator Paul Hoffman is one of the most conscientious and able men to go into government in a long time. Recognizing the importance of criticism, Hoffman has nevertheless been acutely aware of what a time-wasting device the watchdog committee has proved in practice to be. Days and weeks of the time of harassed and busy officials in Europe have been taken up with watchdog interviewers. As a possible substitute, Hoffman has suggested a grand review of ECA policy and administration at which top officials would face a battery of critics, both members of congress and experts they might want to bring in.

PLANS VISIT TO SPAIN

Busy Senator McCarran will not, of course, confine himself to ECA. The senator is planning a visit to Spain, either with his wife or later when he will be joined by members of a senate subcommittee.

This visit will be used by Generalissimo Franco's propagandists to undermine official state department policy with respect to Spain. That line is to refuse aid to the Franco dictatorship because of the attitude of the democracies of western Europe with which this government is co-operating in a mutual defense plan. It is reported that the McCarrans will attend a fiesta given in their honor on October 4.

The senator has, of course, important duties right here in Washington. As chairman of the judiciary committee, he presumably would have to shepherd the nomination of Sherman Minton to the supreme court through the senate. When the name of former Attorney General Tom Clark was before the senate for the high court, Republican senators complained bitterly that they had not been given an opportunity to question Clark.

But McCarran will be hard at work trying to trip up other members of the theoretical Washington team. The wonder is that under such "teamwork" anything ever gets done.

for legend; "ress-toe-RAHNG" for restaurant; "rice" for rise; "SOLL-der" for soldier; "TRY-oh" for trio.

Kirkham: "men-TAIN" for maintain; "PUMP-yun" for pumpkin; "REE-z'n" for raise; "power" for pour; "pro-FEEL" for profile; "SED-joel" for schedule; "yee" for yes; "KURT-shuss" for courteous; "GYAR-dee-un" for guardian; "hwole" for whole.

To sum up, it is unwise to rely on out-moded authorities in arriving at important decisions about word usage or pronunciations. If it is within your means, place that old museum piece of yours on the retired list, and buy an accepted, late-edition dictionary. Go to a reputable book store. Any good dealer will be glad to recommend the dictionary that will suit your needs and your purse.

If you'd like to have my recommendation, drop me a line in care of this paper (stamped, self-addressed envelope, please). Tell me for what purpose you want a new dictionary; I'll be glad to advise you.

LETTERS—Bob Clayton, superintendent of the Escanaba department of parks and forestry, received a letter in the mail the other day. It was a letter from a lawn seed company and the story it told is interesting, although it is advertising for the O. M. Scott & Sons company of Marysville, Ohio.

Convinced that the story behind that circular letter might encourage other

Escanabans to improve their lawns, Bob passed it along for publication in this column. The letter is in part as follows:

"A stranger came into a certain Michigan town to look up a relative. He thought he was in the right neighborhood so he entered a small store to make inquiry. 'How do I find Mr. John Gaufin?' he said to the proprietor.

"There was a moment's pause, then this: 'I'll tell you what you do, mister. Go down this street to the first traffic light, turn right and keep going until you see the prettiest lawn you ever saw in your life. That's where John Gaufin lives.'"

John Gaufin lives in Escanaba, of course, at 1002 South 10th street. Bob Clayton thinks Escanaba might have received some publicity by the Scott company, but he agrees that credit for the fine lawn belongs only to Gaufin—a lawn "that is pretty hard to beat," said Bob.

DEJOBBER—Over in Nigeria, West Africa, another gentleman, a British colonial officer, also received a letter recently. It was from a West African who unexpectedly found himself "disemployed."

"Dear Sir—On opening this epistle you will behold the work of a dejobbed person and very bewildered and much childrenized gentleman, who was violently dejobbed in a twinkling by your good self.

"For Heaven's sake, Sir, consider this catastrophe as falling on your own head, and remind yourself on walking home at the moon's end to five savage wives and sixteen voracious children with your pocket filled with non-existent pounds, shillings and pence and a solitary six pence; pity my horrible state.

"As to the reason given by yourself esquire for my dejobment the incrimination was laziness. No sir. It was impossible that myself who pitched sixteen children into this vale of tears can have a lazy atom in his mortal frame, and a sudden departure of eleven pounds has left me on the verge of destitution and despair.

"I hope this vision of horror will enrich your dreams this night and the good angel will melt and pulverize your heart of nether milestone so that you will awaken with such alacrity to rejobulate your servant. So mote it be amen."

British officials advised the Associated Press that they did not know whether the native was re-associated with his job.

azine devoted to helping its readers achieve happiness and contentment in life appears an article on realizing success in chosen fields. The writer advises readers of the magazine that it takes work to accomplish the goal, and of the profession of writing he says:

"Scarcely a day passes without someone confessing to me that he or she wants to be a writer more than anything else in the world. Yet out of a hundred who make this claim, there is not more than one or two who want to write badly enough to take with the rewards of the profession all the disadvantages that accompany it."

We might comment that the author of that piece, if the above is a sample, is writing "badly enough" to achieve his goal. If he strives still more he may be writing "badly enough" to satisfy another magazine editor.

TEST DRIVER—Another letter reaching our desk this week is the State Highway Department news letter. Included in the highway news of the week is a story about an experiment in safe and reckless driving, made by George W. Averill, managing editor of the Birmingham (Mich.) Eccentric, with the cooperation of the police officers in that city.

Just how much time can be saved by driving fast and recklessly in city traffic? Averill wanted the answer.

So he made several test runs, once as a careful driver observing all stop signs and traffic laws; and a second time as a "speed demon," breaking rules of courtesy as well as speed. Policemen in patrol cars at the start and end of the run acted as timekeepers.

By disregarding his own safety and that of others he clipped 1 minute and 17 seconds off one of the courses; and in a second test he saved 2 minutes and 7 seconds.

Two other test runs were made, first at legal speed limits and with due regard for safety, then fast and wild.

His conclusion is that any driver can save a few seconds or a few minutes by driving like a fool and at the risk of breaking his neck and endangering the lives of others. But it is the careful driver who saves lives, saves wear and tear on his car, and keeps the auto insurance rates down.

Straits Bottleneck

Dear Editor:

For ten to twelve weeks of the year crossing the Straits for the motorist is a problem. There are a few things the Highway Department could do right away that would, to a small degree, alleviate some of the aggravating experiences of the motorists. Regulate the hours of service for all heavy equipment such as road building equipment, super size trailer trucks of the type carrying beer and other commodities. This equipment should be carried across the Straits between ten o'clock p. m. and eight o'clock a. m., unless during the daytime there is space for this equipment without displacing any passenger cars. As an example, late in June I was at the Ferry dock at St. Ignace hoping to board the nine o'clock ferry. There were eight or ten cars including myself in line. Instead of taking us aboard the nine o'clock boat, they loaded a large piece of road equipment that displaced, according to the crew members of the ferry, between eight and ten cars. This piece of equipment was so heavy and large that it could only travel on specially designated highways. The superintendent of the docks advised me that this equipment was supposed to have been in St. Ignace for the seven o'clock ferry at which time they could have taken on the equipment without displacing any cars. The superintendent did not have authority to hold up this equipment and to give priority to the passenger cars waiting to board the boat. Returning on this same trip, I was at the Mackinac Island terminal seven minutes before departure time of the 5:30 boat ferry. To my amazement and the amazement of at least a dozen cars behind me, the ferry pulled away from the dock ahead of schedule. According to the attendants on the dock, the boat had room for more than all the cars in line waiting to board the ferry. I was informed that it was the prerogative of the captain of the ferry to leave earlier if another ferry boat was approaching the dock. The boat approaching the dock was ahead of schedule, and the people aboard it would not have been greatly inconvenienced to be held in the harbor five minutes while the ferry boat loaded the passenger cars in line waiting ferry service. The car behind us from Columbus, Ohio, the driver, his wife and three children had driven all day long after a very early morning start, hoping to get across the straits and to their final destination before dark. Needless to tell you that this citizen and family from Ohio were not complacent in their remarks about the Highway Department's operation of the ferry service. The Highway Department should give the superintendents of the terminals at St. Ignace and Mackinac City the authority to rule in favor of passenger cars awaiting service. The motorists I realize, have no lobby working for them in Lansing, but they are the tourist business in Michigan.

A Motorist.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—Phil Murray, head of the CIO, and Ben Fairless, head of U. S. Steel, are both old friends and old sparring partners. They have sat through many difficult wage negotiations together and hitherto have always come to an agreement. This time it was apparent from almost the start of the strike negotiations that both men had their backs up.

When Murray arrived for the first meeting with Federal Mediator Cyrus Ching, Fairless greeted him like a long-lost brother.

"Hello, Phil. I haven't seen you in a long time. You're looking very well."

Fairless didn't say so, but the real reason he hadn't seen Murray was because Fairless' boss, Enders Voorhees, the real brains of J. P. Morgan and the real dictator of U. S. Steel, wouldn't let Fairless come to meetings of the fact-finding board. He was afraid Fairless wouldn't be tough enough.

"I've been missing your telegrams lately, Phil," added Fairless, and there was a little sarcasm in his voice this time, as he referred to Murray's tough telegraphic ultimatum that U. S. Steel would have to negotiate on the basis of the president's fact-finding board's recommendations. "We haven't had many telegrams in the last few days."

"Well, you may get another before the day is over," replied Murray.

U. S. STEEL'S POSITION

John Stephens, vice president of U. S. Steel in charge of labor relations, did much of the talking for the steel executive. For many years Stephens has been quite friendly with Murray and leaders of the Steelworkers Union, but lately relations have been strained.

Stephens charges that Murray agreed last year not to raise the issue of increased wages this year. Murray in turn is indignant over the fact that the rooms in which negotiations were held on a previous occasion were wired with hidden microphones, and now steel executives allude to statements which were secretly recorded.

As negotiations opened this week, Stephens bluntly informed Mediator Ching and Phil Murray that the ten-cent-an-hour increase for pensions and social-security benefits recommended by the White House fact-finding board was out of the question.

Stephens reiterated that the company was prepared to offer four cents an hour toward workmen's pensions—provided the steelworkers themselves contributed an additional two cents—but would go no further. Noncontributory pensions borne entirely by management were too great a tax on industry and eventually on the consuming public, the steel spokesman declared.

"You never know where they're going to stop," said Stephens. "The coal industry has had a bitter experience along this line with John L. Lewis. Lewis started demanding and getting five-cents-a-ton royalty for the miners' welfare fund."

"They he got 10 cents, then 20 cents and now he is reported to be demanding 40 cents from the coal operators."

Ching replied that he could not understand this reasoning. The fact-finding proposal for 10 cents was fair to both sides and had been made after a thorough study by conscientious men who were thinking of the national interest.

RUSSIA WATCHES STEEL CRISIS
"But this is more than a national issue," Ching emphasized. "It has very serious international implications. A steel strike at this time would be disastrous, not only to our own economy, but to the program we have undertaken to insure world peace."

"You all know what has happened in Britain, and we cannot afford to allow anything to happen to our own economy if we are to continue to help others to ward off the threat of Communism. A steel strike at this time would be the greatest boon we could give to Russia."

Ching's top assistant, William Margolis, broke in with the observation: "Yes, the reporters for Pravda will be having a wonderful time the next few weeks if our steel plants close down."

At one point Murray unleashed a caustic blast—which almost equaled John L. Lewis' sarcasm—against U. S. Steel's publicity campaign. He reminded Fairless that U. S. Steel had spent several hundred thousand dollars on advertisements in the morning papers and wanted to know what he meant by dissipating the assets of his corporation in such a wanton manner.

"It would have been far better to use the money to pay pensions," chided Murray, "rather than pull the wool over the public's eyes."

MELLON GIVES ORDERS

Murray also criticized Adm. Ben Moreell, former chief of navy supply, now head of the Jones and Laughlin Steel company, and hitherto friendly toward the steelworkers. Moreell had appeared ready to accept the fact-finding board's recommendations, but, just before the negotiations began, Moreell was reported to have received instructions from the Mellon interests in Pittsburgh, who control Jones and Laughlin, to back-track. Murray, therefore, accused Moreell of vacillating, not being a free man, and he quoted statements by the admiral indicating his earlier willingness to accept.

Murray asked Moreell point-blank why he didn't accept the fact-finding recommendations.

The admiral, who had a fine war record, claimed Murray had not quoted him correctly.

After these fireworks, Mediator Ching decided that separate meetings might be more conducive to harmony and went into a series of huddles—first with union leaders, then with the steel executives. They got nowhere. But the negotiations made one point reasonably clear: The steel industry had decided that any settlement much come under the Taft-Hartley act.

Christian Science Lecture Delivered By Arthur Perrow

A lecture on Christian Science, entitled, "Christian Science: The Way to Freedom" was delivered by Arthur Perrow, C. S., of Chicago, member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, at the church edifice, 323 South 13th street last evening.

The program was held under the auspices of The Christian Science Society of Escanaba. Richard Morénus introduced the lecturer.

The lecturer spoke in part as follows:

Everything said in this lecture is intended to point the way more clearly to God, divine Love, the omnipresent, omnipotent, and omniscient that is, the all-present, all-powerful, and all-wise Spirit, Truth, who is closer to each one of us than all else in the world.

If men really understood God instead of having mere belief in some kind of supreme being, the resultant behavior would dispel all the confusion and bewilderment of the hour. To know and demonstrate the fact that God is the one infinite divine intelligence would silence the human and mesmeric tendencies toward strife, hatred, wars, and other disorders.

The world today is far from being unified in its concept of Christ Jesus, the great master Christ—his purpose, his teachings and their usefulness. Jesus was a human whose name was similar to many other men of his day, but the Christ was and is the truth which Jesus taught and demonstrated and which he referred to when he said, "Before Abraham was, I am" (John 8:58).

A study of Jesus' words and works in the light of Christian Science makes logical and demonstrable the great teachings Jesus left for his followers. His instructions are clear, unmistakable, and positive, and all based on his understanding of God and His law of harmony, available to all.

Man, made in the image and likeness of God, the real man, is forever spiritual, sinless, ageless, deathless. It is this basic view of man which is included in John's statement, "Whosoever is born of God doth not commit sin for his seed remaineth in him; and he cannot sin, because he is born of God" (1 John 3:9).

One of the precious gifts to mankind is the ever-present opportunity to pray. The prayer of communion with the divine is the greatest and most productive of all meditations. It brings us to a clearer realization of divine Mind and God's law of harmony. It shows us the open fount of refreshment.

Healing the sick is the application of the law of God, which adjusts all things according to the divine Principle of true, harmonious and everlasting being. The human mind questions healing through spiritual means, but in this as well as in other manifestations of the infinite power of good, it may be stated in Biblical language, "The natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God; for they are foolishness unto him; neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned" (1 Cor. 2:14).

Christian Scientists have a deep feeling of love and gratitude for the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, whose great gift to the world can never be dimmed or obscured. Her zeal and love for all mankind, and above all, her love for God and His Christ, led to her discovery of Christian Science, the full revelation of the glorious truth which Jesus said would make us free.

This knowledge of God is the way of freedom—freedom from fear, from sin and sickness, freedom from limitation and lack.

HOW DOES CHRISTIAN SCIENCE HEAL?

THE DISAPPEARANCE of organic and functional disease, as well as of trouble in other forms, is continually recorded among those who have turned to Christian Science for help.

The method of such overcoming of difficulty is prayer—a spiritually scientific manner of thinking based on the teaching of Christ Jesus.

What this prayer is and how anyone can understand it and use it effectually in accordance with his need are fully explained in the Christian Science textbook,

SCIENCE and HEALTH with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy

Cornell Approves Sending Students To Escanaba High

School electors of Cornell township yesterday in a special vote approved a proposal to transport students of the seventh and eighth grades to Escanaba junior high school.

A total of 43 votes were cast, 28 yes, and 15 no, on the question.

Tonight the Cornell board of education, Clayton Ford president, will meet to decide when the transporting of the students will start, and whether it will include all of the 21 students in the two grades.

The question came before the voters as required by law, and after a public meeting held earlier this month in the town hall. At that time the majority of the parents attending the meeting expressed informal approval of the plan.

The upper rooms of the Cornell school are overcrowded and classes are too large for the three teachers now employed by the township school district.

3 Injured in Auto Accident

Student Hurt As Car Overturns

Three students enroute from Detroit to the Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton, suffered minor injuries, and the wife of one is in St. Francis hospital, as the result of a highway accident at 5:45 this morning on US-2 at Ensign.

Most seriously hurt is Mrs. Kathleen Matthews, 20, who has back injuries.

The accident occurred when Edward Sheffield, 31, of 207 Douglas Hall, Houghton, the driver, lost control of the car when it skidded on the wet pavement. The car left the highway and turned over several times.

Jack Matthews, 23, the injured woman's husband and registered owner of the car, and Fred Zeglen, of Dearborn, received only slight bruises and Sheffield has cuts over the right eye received when his glasses were smashed.

X-rays will be taken today to determine the extent of Mrs. Matthews' injuries. The Matthews are former residents of Detroit but have been living in Houghton for the past several years.

Columbia Giant Ring On Display In Local Store

One of the largest matched ring sets ever made is now on display in the window of Garrard Jewelers. The large stone set in the engagement ring is a perfectly cut, exact replica of an actual diamond and a diamond of equivalent weight would be one of the largest in the world.

The largest ring set will be on display for the balance of the week. You are invited to view it and ask any questions concerning it. The set was designed by the manufacturers of nationally famous Columbia Diamond Rings.

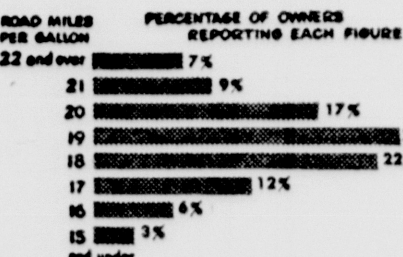

Garrard's are also featuring in their display windows an animated display of dwarfs manufacturing rings that has created a great deal of comment. Oh's and Ah's from passers-by from 6 to 60.

The Copper Country; Past, Present And Unpredictable Future

16,000 Worked Mines In 1916

Reopening Of C&H Cheers Citizens

By CRESCENCE BURGUNDER
Calumet, Mich.—What price copper? One could start off quite a long story on that simple question. A copper penny is our smallest U. S. coin—speaking in monetary value—but the fortunes made in copper have had world-wide repercussions.

Did you know, for instance, that:

Copper once made the mighty House of Rothschild back down its own ledger columns and eat humble pie for four years?

In 1864 the price of copper was 55 cents per pound?

In 1902 William Rockefeller was losing as much or more in copper than Brother John D. was making on oil?

The Calumet and Hecla is the most famous copper mine in the world?

All these and more interesting facts come to light when the literature and economic history of our own Michigan Copper Country is mulled over. And every time copper makes the headlines, as it has been doing again in the last several weeks, wherever old-timers get together, there's a story or two to bring back the colorful, nostalgic, booming past against the background of a troubled present.

Faith Never Wavers
Yet faith never wavers altogether. In Houghton County there are people—among both management and labor—who believe that, while copperdom may have seen its lush days and plusher decades in these parts, "there's life in the old girl yet!"

No one can say, and no one can make the loyal native Copper Country resident admit, that the mines are exhausted. No, what's happened is this:

The mines in the Copper Country, which always produced the red metal in a more pure state than elsewhere, have been probed as deep down as practicable. Further operations are expensive, with present-day production costs high and wage-scales towering. Outside competitors can furnish a cheaper, lower-grade ore to meet lessened demand and do it at an advantage because of valuable by-products, such as silver. These competitors include not only domestic mines in the West but competition with low-cost foreign imports from abroad and from South America, notably Chile and Peru. Trade with these countries we are committed to, under our otherwise less-embarrassing Good Neighbor policy.

C. & H. Fabricates Copper
Exploratory mining could be carried on in new Copper Country locations but this is not profitable under present economic conditions. Fabrication and chemical by-products seem to offer at today's risks the best opening and these ventures Calumet & Hecla has launched.

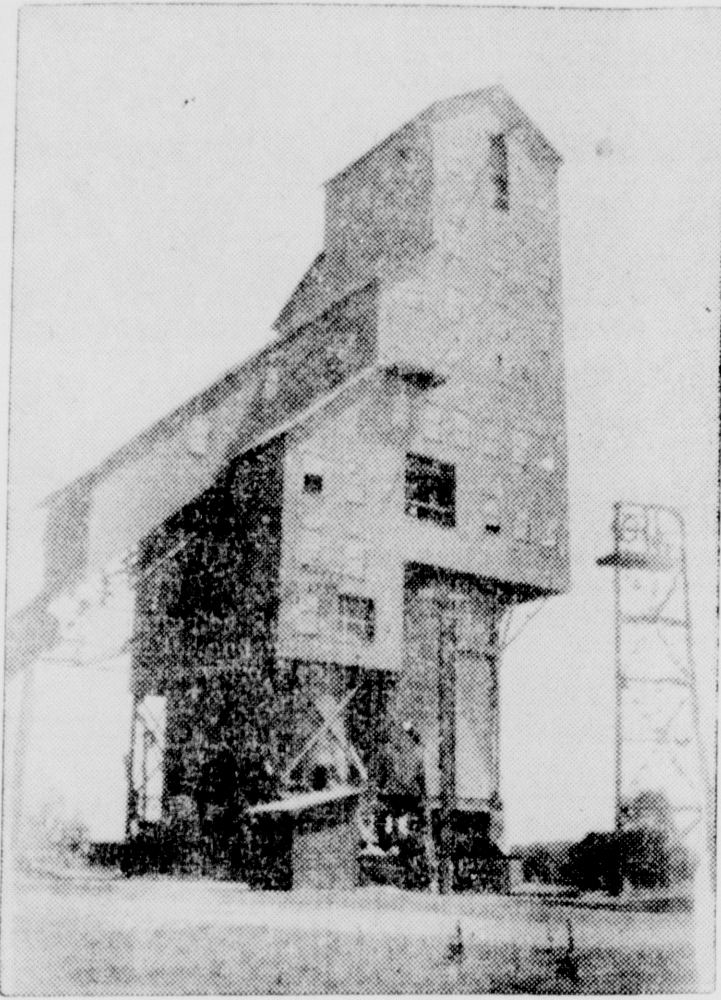

To return to outside copper: It can be produced or imported at a low varying figure of from ten to fifteen cents per pound, without investment loss. Unfortunately, the Michigan copper range can only break even at these lower figures. Our mines have become "marginal" producers—that is, they can just about meet costs with income. Hence the successive fight, for a copper tariff in the 1930's when copper dropped to an all-time low of 4.9 cents; for a copper subsidy in recent wartime and reconstruction years; and the latest move, reported in last night's papers, taken by Senator Ferguson and others to restore domestic protection by a 2-cent copper duty on imports.

To show further the contrast between cost and price, consider the following figures: In 1931-32 the C. & H. copper production cost about 10 cents a pound; the selling price was about 6 cents. By 1935-1936 the picture had only slightly reversed. Costs were above six cents a pound, price barely nine cents. One can readily see how all this would be reflected in wages, employment, and the outlook of the copper district.

During World War I the price of copper rose again to its second abnormal high: 37 cents. However, during World War II, due to some of the factors already mentioned and also because of an "inflation-conscious Washington," a 12-cent ceiling was placed on copper.

What happened in this year of our Lord, 1949? Well, a buyers'

Shaffhouse Of Ahmeek Copper Mine

strike developed, dropping copper price in April to 16 cents, a drop of 7½ cents. During July there was a price recovery of 1½ cents, bringing the price to a current level of just under 18 cents.

In the meantime, the Calumet and Hecla Consolidated—only operating survivor of the once hundred-odd companies that were organized in the Lake Superior district—had been forced to shut down. With a considerable inventory on hand and no orders, production had to be suspended early in May.

1500 Were Unemployed
Although the smelter and maintenance departments were kept open all summer, some on reduced schedules, the unemployment of about 1500 men in the Calumet-Laurium-Keweenaw area cast something of a pall over this section. Only an unexpectedly good tourist season and a bang-up Copper Country Homecoming Week (August 1-7) kept up the spirits of local residents eking out family life on compensation checks. Yet hope was never abandoned and true to form, the Copper Country bounced back—at least a little.

When the copper workers agreed at a mass meeting on Sept. 11 to a five-point proposal and a 15-cent an hour wage cut "still under dispute", a good deal of relief and thanksgiving was felt. By the cut the company expects to effect a production saving of $600,000 to which it is hoped to add another cost cut in operation expense of $2,100,000—a total necessary reduction to continue operations which is deemed a minimum economy at the present price of copper. However, in the event Senate Bill S2105 is finally passed by the House in Washington, it will provide the protected operation and development of Michigan copper resources to enable a restoration of former wage rates.

C. & H. Operations Vital
Continuation of operations at C. & H. is of vital importance to the U. P. from more than an employment standpoint. If a complete shutdown had followed at this time there is small likelihood that the copper industry would ever have been rehabilitated in the state. The mines would fill with water, machinery would be sold, dismantled, or soon be obsolete, and a labor supply would probably never again be available unless imported.

In 1930 copper mining employed about 10,000 men, or 20% of the total population of Houghton and Keweenaw counties. By 1940 the population was still stabilized around 50,000 but today copper mining employs little more than 2,000 men—probably not more than 5% of the total population. With seasonal work dropping off at this time of year, unemployment is therefore still high in the Copper Country as compared to other sections of the country and copper mining can never be expected to absorb all of it.

Yes, where once "Copper was King" today it is mostly so in retrospect. In 1936 only two operating companies were still listed with the State Department of Conservation. They were the Calumet and Hecla and the Copper Range. The Isle Royale, between Houghton and Chassell, operated a while after that date but is now closed down, as is the once productive Copper Range which in May, 1937, was still employing 1,000 men.

"Old Reliable" Closed
The world-famous Quincy, with its photogenic and picturesque shaft-house atop Quincy Hill and overlooking Portage Lake, was reopened in 1937 but even it, "Old Reliable," is now a memory of the poetic past. It had been dug out to an incline depth of over 9,000 miles (deeper than the Kimberly diamond mines). Now and then air blasts in its subterranean and underlake chambers have been known to make cracks in the lake ice during the winter. Customers, standing in P. C. Brooks' pharmacy on Sheldon Street in Houghton, have at such times heard the medicine bottles dance on the shelves.

In Ruth Malignen's "Northern Lights," she writes touchingly in

'Shut-down'—
"We miss the sounds of the Quincy Mine;
The sound of the hoist wheels singing;
The bellow's blow and the blasts below
And the locomotive ringing.

We miss the sounds of the Quincy Mine;
Old sounds, oft repeated.
Can such a long, tenacious life Really be completed?"

16,000 Miners in 1916
The peak in copper mining was reached in 1916. At that time in Houghton County alone, the industry employed about 16,000 men. In the Calumet-Laurium area, where the village population of Laurium and Red Jacket in 1917-18 was 14,000, there were over 5,000 miners.

1916 was also the year of the Calumet and Hecla's Golden Jubilee when on July 15 a mammoth picnic was staged for all employees and their families in the field site dedicated as Agassiz Park. Today you have to be close to forty years old to remember the giant parade, the free box-lunches, the band concert and fireworks, and the awarding of silver, bronze, or gold medals to fathers, uncles, and grandfathers lined up to receive them.

Agassiz Park is named for Alexander Agassiz, the company's guiding genius (later its president) from 1867-1910. Mr. Agassiz' humane handling of the men and his wise direction of the company's affairs is responsible for the industrial good-will set up in the Calumet area.

Practically all local labor disturbance since then has been brought in by outside influences. Since the unionization of the copper workers about 1941, collective bargaining has taken the place of the old personal relationship fostered both by Mr. Agassiz and later, James MacNaughton, C & H president who died in May of this year after a long illness. It is a triumph and vindication for Calumet that the pipe of peace has been effectively smoked once more at the most recent council fire.

Shaft-houses Lit Again
As a result the Diesels are blowing again in Calumet and on the Lake Linden hill. Lights are on again in shaft-houses at Ahmeek, Kearsarge, and Centennial. The wheels and hoists are whirling with some of their old contentment, though some of the biggest wheels are gone and everyone knows that reclamation work is about finished.

What if there are great empty yards where handsome, church-like stone engine-houses once thrived with the life and effort of all Calumet, and a few brick smokestacks were dynamited into a neatly engineered collapse? True, other industries—forest products, tourist attraction, potato and strawberry growing, small manufacturers—will have to be looked to, but what of it?

Despite any strange vacancies where mining structures once stood, in the Copper Country you will still find remnants of the old enthusiasm, the old faith, that

Tangier Is Busy Money Market

Big Deals Made In Town In Morocco

By ROBERT C. RUARK

New York—You've read of the big financial turmoil in some 16 countries since the British pound took a kick in its value, but no where have you seen the mention of a little Moroccan hick town named Tangier. And there, my devaluated constituents, is where the big operations are taking place right this minute. There is where a lot of the deals are being made; there is where the world is adjusting itself to the fresh concept of what money is worth.

Money's funny. A lot of time has been spent, since Bretton Woods, in telling us what it's supposed to be worth or what it ought to be worth or what people say it's worth. There is only one place I know where money is worth what it's actually worth, and that's Tangier.

Tangier is a little town on the coast of Morocco, just outside the Straits of Gibraltar. It is an international settlement—a slim slice hacked out of the sultanate of Morocco. It is administered by a handful of nations, including us, on a joint responsibility that nevertheless is a very far piece. As an experiment in one world, Tangier is a pretty lousy object lesson, because it is the last haven for the spoilers of all nations, including ours.

made the Calumet and Hecla a byword in every fourth grader's world geography, a teatime conversation piece in Boston's smartest Gay Nineties' drawing-rooms, and a commanding international influence in the banking-houses of Germany, France and England. And a lot of that peculiar faith was lit with the funny little carbide lamp the Copper Country miner wore in his underground hat!

The reason Tangier became a sailor's rest for freebooters is fairly obvious. It has no real restrictions on anything, including murder.

And so, Tangier has become the financial hotspot of the globe. With negligible customs regulations, and no rules whatsoever on currency of any kind, Tangier is a seething snakepit of smuggling, of black market, of finanagling—and most of all, it is the physical home of uncontrolled currency.

On an average day, the financial handle in this little town—its censured less than 100,000 two years ago, and most of that number was native stock—rivals the handle in New York's Wall St. and in London. The Tangier situation, supplied on the radio, sets the black market figure for all of Europe on any day. Because Tangier is the home of the hard money—the money that would buy exactly what it was worth, and not a mill more.

Movie Is Exchange
Tangier's bourse, which turned over nearly as much dough as Wall St., was a neighborhood movie called the Cinema de Paris. It was a stock exchange in the morning—in the afternoon you saw Bing Crosby. The bourse always gave you a fine free show. Everybody always was in the act. Buying and selling in the heavy millions, you would see curly-bearded old boys from Bucharest, wearing black homburg hats. You would see nazis who got out early with the loot. You would see senior Franco's representatives, doing their best by the pests—and you would also see the front-folks for God-fearing American big business, in there pitching to profit off the exchange.

In a world where gold is practically verboten, I have seen huge transactions in bullion, in American double eagles, in English sovereigns, in French Louis d'or, in Tangier. For a European population of 12,000 now swelled to 60,000, there were 30-odd banks two years ago, and when I was there last they were completing their 49th bank.

Play for Keeps
The British pound sterling has just been devalued to a dollar equivalent of $2.80. I could buy that pound for $2.10 in Tangier, nearly a year ago, and take a short trip to Gibraltar and sell it for four bucks. When the Spanish peseta was a red hot 13 per dollar in Spain, you could buy it at 33 in Tangier. If you were frugal, minded, two years back, you could buy them legally in the banks for about 25 per dollar when the going rate in Paris was 119. And send them, again legally, by bank draft, to any portion of the globe which dealt in francs—French Morocco, Tunisia, Algeria or France itself.

Just so long as there is a Tangier there will never be a complete control of money value, because you cannot arbitrarily say what a pengo or a peso or a pound or a lire is worth if a flock of realists, living in an unrestricted state, hold down the worth of the money to what it will actually buy in goods. There will always be market for the spoils in the difference between what it's supposed to be and what it actually is.

I'd give a pretty—prewar gold, of course—to be in Tangier this minute. I bet there's so much commotion in the Cinema de Paris that nobody's had time to slip over to Le Cafe parade for a swift aperitif. Those boys play for keeps, in that town.

Dr. Wilbur West
Is Sunnyside
PTA Speaker

Bark River—Dr. Wilbur West spoke on "The Behavior and Growth of the Primary Child" at the September meeting of the Sunnyside P. T. A., held at the school Wednesday evening.

The Marquette psychologist gave interesting facts on differences in children, the progress and development of the child at home or in school and the danger of comparison with other children in physical development. He touched on the changes in society in recent years and pointed out the fact that 23 percent of all children are retarded in the first grade in Michigan schools because of some differences in physical or moral development which are not evident.

The meeting, following customary reports, was opened with a welcome by the president, Mrs. Roger Quist. Serving with her this year are Arthur Sundquist, vice president, Mrs. Leo Brunelle, secretary, Mrs. Carl Konkel, treasurer, and Mrs. Leslie Sundquist, historian.

Members were asked for donations of vegetables and fruits toward the hot lunch program and Mrs. William LaVigne named to take charge of them. It was announced that playground equipment has been ordered and that dishes have been purchased for the school. Details of the health immunization clinic at the school October 13, at 9:30, were given and leaflets on the Delta-Menominee district health department distributed.

Following the meeting, lunch was served by Mmes. Arthur Sundquist, Leslie Sundquist, Leo Brunelle, Carl Konkel, Lawrence Erickson, Joseph LaVigne and Roger Quist.

THE DON COSSACKS—Tomorrow evening, at the high school auditorium, people of Manistique and vicinity will be privileged to see and to hear one of the most gifted as well as unusual musical organizations in existence.

The Original Don Cossacks, at one time, were the Choir of the Orthodox Cathedral of St. Sophia in Bulgaria's capital and when one of the congregation of that church sent them out on a concert tour, the world famous organization was born.

Since their organization, nearly three decades ago, they have traveled more than two million miles and have sung in every continent in the world. They have sung in every town in the United States having a population of 50,000 or over.

The local sponsors, the Manistique Music Association, which has made it a point to try and secure the ultimate in music for the community deems the securing of this group for a local appearance a triumph. They hope that the public appreciates what has been done and that the heavy expense involved will be underwritten by the sale of tickets.

Helen Thorell And George Johnson Exchange Vows

The fireplace of the Clarence Thorell home at 802 Garden avenue, flanked with evergreens and candles, was the setting for the wedding on Saturday evening, Sept. 17 of the Thorells' oldest daughter, Miss Helen Lucille Thorell, and George Virgil Johnson, son of the Chris Johnsons, Indian Lake Road.

The couple exchanged their nuptial vows before the Rev. W. H. Schobert, pastor of the First Baptist church, at 7 o'clock.

The bride was attired in a suit of slate blue gabardine. She wore black accessories and a corsage of red rose buds and white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Thorell and Mrs. Johnson wore navy blue with matching accessories and corsages of fuchsia gladioli.

A buffet lunch was served following the ceremony for members of the immediate families. A tiered cake, topped with the traditional miniature couple, centered the serving table.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left later in the evening on a wedding trip to Chicago, after which they will return to Manistique to reside.

The bride graduated from Manistique high school with the class of 1942 and has been employed in the office of the Inland Lime and Stone company for the past five years. The bridegroom, a graduate of the Lane Technical School in Chicago, served for three years with the Navy in the Pacific. He is employed as mason on the Memorial hospital.

Choral Club Will Meet At 7:00 Monday Evening

A change in the time of practice of the Manistique Choral club is announced by Mrs. James Fyvie, the director.

In order not to conflict with the time of the Dr. Crane lecture at the First Methodist church next Monday evening, the time of the meeting has been set at 7:00 o'clock instead of 7:30, the usual time. The practice will be dismissed promptly at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Fyvie is also issuing a call for more men's voices in the choir. Very few men turned out for the first practice. More altos are also needed.

The practices will be held on the stage of the high school auditorium. The south door will be left open to accommodate those who attend.

Will Speak At Church Instead Of School Auditorium

A complete change in arrangements relative to the local public appearance of Dr. Henry Hitt Crane, noted Detroit clergyman, has been made. The dinner meeting, scheduled to be held in the high school gymnasium Monday evening, has been called off and Dr. Crane will speak at the First Methodist church instead of the school auditorium.

No admission will be charged for attendance at the meeting, but a free will offering will be taken up.

Dr. Crane will lecture on the theme "Why We Must Be Christians."

Cathedral Film To Be Shown At First Baptist

Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock, at the First Baptist church, the motion picture "Simon Peter" will be shown.

The picture deals in an impressive and vivid way with the calling of Peter to be a disciple of Christ.

The picture is non-sectarian in its treatment and people of all faiths are cordially invited to attend.

Liquor Venders Hold Convention

Two-Day Session Ended Thursday

Making the organization serve not only the interests of its members but the best interests of the public at large was the dominant theme emphasized at the fifth annual fall convention of the Upper Peninsula Liquor and Beer Vendors association which completed its two day session at Hotel Ossawinimakee here Thursday evening.

"Your business will remain legal as long as it does not become obnoxious—not to fanatics, but to your neighbors," Fred J. Kandt, of Detroit, president of the state licenses advisory council, told members of the organization at the dinner meeting which concluded the session. Use every effort to maintain your business on a respectable level. Conduct it in such a manner that you may be proud of your business, he added.

Mrs. Kandt, who was the principal speaker at the dinner session, explained the efforts of his organization in promoting legislation that would serve the best interests of the dealers. He was particularly emphatic in insisting that there be no further increase of taxation of liquor.

Edward J. Maloney, of the State Liquor Commission, spoke briefly with reference to the connection between his department and the thousands of liquor and beer vendors it must deal with. Some of the laws and regulations, he said, may not be to the liking of dealers in various communities, but they are of vital necessity. He claimed that Michigan has the best set of liquor laws in the country and that many other states have adopted laws after ours.

Alvin C. Hampton, mayor of Negaunee, spoke briefly stating that more dealers should be urged to join the organization.

Postmaster Frank Gierke presided as toastmaster at the dinner. Notable among matters stressed at afternoon business sessions was sentiment to the effect that in cities, villages and townships with populations of 50,000 or less that license be automatically renewed by the state liquor commission.

Officers elected were: Harry Backer, Sault Ste. Marie, president; Don Frantz, St. Ignace, first vice president; Frank Schon, Manistique, third vice president; Paul Faircloth, Escanaba, secretary-treasurer; Sault Ste. Marie was selected as the next convention city.

Al Wright, of St. Ignace, president of the association, presided at the convention meetings.

After "poor little" Norway's 13-7 victory over that "big strong" Iron River eleven last week, there is no such thing as If anything—if you insist on giving that tab to someone—you might give it to the Eskymos who have squeaked by Sault Ste. Marie and Ironwood with little to show except a lot of ground gained in midfield. The Eskymos still have to demonstrate a scoring punch and whether they've found it in strenuous work this week remains to be seen tomorrow afternoon. In case you're wondering how a team that was licked by Stambaugh, 33-13, could come back the following week to spank a big Iron River eleven, 13-7, here's the story:

Norway wasn't at full strength against Stambaugh, yet the Vikings gave them a better game than that 33-13 score indicates. Coach Allan Ronberg told us over the phone this morning that three of his "running" backs of the left tailback spot were the injury list of the Stambaugh game. All they did was hit the middle and punt. The Vikings were at full strength against Iron River and it was a different story entirely. They were in the ball game all the way. In fact, they won. And that's something they'd like very much to do here tomorrow afternoon. The Vikings operate off a straight T formation with the man in motion once in awhile. They have a very capable backfield composed of Bill McCarthy, quarterback; Ernest Pardon, left half; Gerald Oberthaler, senior right half whom the Eskymos will recall from past experience, and Norman Polomis. It was Pardon and Polomis who did the lion's share of ball lugging in that Iron River victory, but as Coach Ronberg said via the phone this a. m.: "Woddy mean, individual standouts? We had 11 men who did a whale of a job against Iron River. It was an 11-man victory.

The Vikings will come here with a squad of from 27 to 30 players. All this indicates that the Eskymos will have their hands full tomorrow to keep their record clear. Strong on defense, as evidenced in the Soo and Ironwood games, the Eskymos have not as yet found a scoring punch. That has been Coach Jim Rouman's chief concern this week. Motion pictures of the Ironwood game clearly showed faulty downfield blocking was keeping Eskymo runners from breaking loose for touchdown scampers. And as is typical of green teams, the Eskymos tightened up a mite within the 20-yard line—just when they should be at their loosest and most versatile best. "We anticipate a much tougher game than last week, and we're going to give them everything we've got," Coach Rouman said. "We've been working on offense, fundamentals, improved blocking and pass defense. If our ground defense holds up as it has in the first two games and if we show pass defense and offense improvement, we'll make it tough for Norway." John Kelly, Ben Karwoski and Dick Wille, all of Manistique, will officiate the game.

Fans are reminded that the game will start at 2 instead of 3, which was a special provision only for the Ironwood game because of the distance factor, and they also are reminded that the south gate, ticket booth and parking lot will be in use. George Ruwitch, Escanaba athletic director, announced this morning that 500 single game reserved seat tickets would be on sale for the Norway game and for all remaining home games on the Eskymo schedule. They may be purchased at the activities office at the high school or at the ticket booths.

Trojans Determined To Get 1st Win At Lourdes Tonight

Coach Tom St. Germain's St. Joseph's Trojans will be out to get their first victory of the season when they tangle with Coach Bob Noonan's Lourdes Shamrocks at Laurman field in Marinette at 8, Escanaba time, tomorrow night. To date, Lourdes has defeated St. Mary's of Menasha, 19-7, and lost, 13-7, to Stephenson. To date, St. Joseph's has lost, 27-7, to Gladstone and 14-0 to Laona, Wis.

T formation with a man in motion. Lourdes uses a single wing exclusively with the unbalanced line to the right. The Shamrocks have a tailback by the name of Benish who has earned the Trojan's respect. He was plenty sharp in Lourdes win over St. Mary's, scoring two touchdowns himself. Wayne Papineau will start at left end for St. Joe, replacing Alfred Dufour, who is sidelined with a charleyhorse. No other changes have been made, but Clyde Kurzinski, freshman guard, has been showing up good in practice and is due to see plenty of action, as is Ron Hirn, who is slated to take Papineau's place on defense and may see some offen-

Relaxed MSC Team At U-M For Big Game

East Lansing, Sept. 22 (P)—The Michigan State football team moved in to Ann Arbor today, undisputed by forecasts, betting odds or pre-game predictions on the opener with Michigan. The Spartans scheduled a brief afternoon workout in the Michigan Stadium prior to spending the night in Jackson. The 37-man squad will return to Ann Arbor just before game time Saturday. "We've read a lot and heard a lot about the Michigan team," Munn commented. "About them running up a 90-0 score in practice. But we're not going in there afraid of them. The kind of boys we grow here don't scare easily. We'll give a good account of ourselves." Munn was asked if he was worried because his Spartans were outwitted by Michigan. "Today's game is so mobile," Munn said, "that I'd rather have a fast little man than a slow big one." Munn tried to give his charges his relaxed attitude at the last practice session on home grounds Thursday. "Relax! Take it easy! Loosen up!" he shouted as his traveling squad was put through its paces.

Cards Half Game Up After Dodgers Win (Ouch) 19-6

The St. Louis Cardinals, down through the years, have gained reputation as a "never say die" team.

Baseball fans are wondering today if the present crew of Cardinals will live up to the saying made famous by their illustrious predecessors.

The Cardinal spirit should be low. They suffered one of the most humiliating defeats in their long history last night, a 19-6 trouncing at the hands of the second place Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Dodgers, with their backs to the wall, made the Cards look like a Class-D outfit instead of the top team in the National league.

While the Dodgers mopped up the Cards before 30,765 fans at Sportsman Park, the American League pennant picture remained unchanged. The first place New York Yankees' scheduled night game with last place Washington was rained out. The second place Boston Red Sox, who trail the Yankees by two games, were idle as was the rest of the American league.

Brooklyn belted Red Munn and five St. Louis relief pitchers for 19 hits. The Dodgers scored in every inning except the second and seventh.

Carl Furillo led the massacre, driving home seven runs on three doubles and two singles. Gil Hodges knocked home five on three singles. Duke Snider contributed two doubles and two singles to the attack that saw all but Pee Wee Reese and Spider Jorgensen collect at least one safety. Lefty Joe Hatten, who had failed to finish against the Cards in six previous starts, glided to his 12th victory. Hatten allowed two hits over the first five rounds and then eased up and granted eight in the last four. Two of the Cards hits were homers by Stan Musial — his 34th — and Tommy Glaviano. Jackie Robinson of the Dodgers regained the circuit batting lead from the Cards' Enos Slaughter. Robinson batted out two hits in four trips to boost his mark from .342 to .343. Slaughter went hitless in five tries and dropped from .345 to .342. Both contenders are idle today. They resume action Saturday night with the Dodgers entertaining Philadelphia and Cards playing host to Chicago.

In other National league games the Pirates blanked the Boston Braves, 1-0, behind Murry Dickson; Chicago edged Philadelphia, 2-1, at tenth New York Giants divided with the Reds in Cincinnati, winning the first game, 3-1, and dropping the second, 6-4.

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SPORTS

"It Seems To Me"

BY JIM WARD

The crystal ball was a bit foggy this morning. You know, like one of those gadgets you get at a gift shop; you shake it and there's Eliza carry little Eva across the ice in a snowstorm.

It must be the humidity in the Escanaba Daily Press vault. At any rate, today's the day we tell you the scores of the weekend games, and we'll have to get along with a foggy crystal.

Negaunee 13, Munising 6—The Mustangs may have a couple of fast backs, but they haven't been able to shake them loose yet. Gladstone kept them in a corral last week and we look for Negaunee to do almost as well tomorrow.

Wakefield 27, L'Anse 20—Fairly evenly matched, these two rivals should wage a battle royale. A pretty wide open game with Wakefield getting the nod.

Stambaugh 20, Iron Mountain 13—The so-called titans of U. P. ball this season clash at Iron Mountain. The Mountaineers are just a bit overrated. Stambaugh has Mel Holme and a smoother working unit. Iron Mountain has Bill Olivanti with an injured back and a unit that does not click quite so well. We'll take Stambaugh without batting an eye.

Crystal Falls 26, Houghton 13—Crystal Falls has shown more ability to score than hapless Houghton and also a slightly better defense.

Ontonagon 13, Baraga 0—No, this isn't a flip-of-the-coin game. Ontonagon's at least two touchdowns better than Baraga, even at Baraga.

Hancock 6, Lake Linden 6—Judging from what we've been able to find out about these two teams, we can't see anything other than a 6-6 tie.

St. Joseph's 7, Lourdes 6—This isn't going out on the limb as much as you might think. St. Germain has an improved ball club that is dead set on chalking up its first win of the season. Lourdes didn't look too sharp in losing to Stephenson, 13-7, last week. They'll be tough to beat at home, but the Trojans can do it.

Escanaba 13, Norway 12—This promises to be a more wide open game than any to date on the Eskey schedule. Norway is at full strength, as it was against Iron River. Some of the rough spots have been removed from Escanaba's offense. Norway gave Escanaba a scare in Norway before bowing, 12-7, last year. The Vikings will give the Eskymos a scare here tomorrow, but we can't see anything except an Escanaba win. A close one, but a win nevertheless.

That winds up the Saturday slate. Here's a repeat on the forecast of tonight's games, meanwhile correcting two typographical errors that cropped up yesterday: Menominee 40, Calumet 0; Ironwood 26, Bessemer 6; Iron River 34, Niagara 6; Gladstone 27, Manistique 7; Soo 7, Newberry 6; Ishpeming 12, Marquette 7; Whiting, Ind. 20, Marinette 13.

You can look for Michigan to take Michigan State by 20-13. The Chicago Bears will bounce the Green Bay Packers again, but the margin will be only 27-14 this time.

Gladstone Seeks 3rd Straight Win At 'Stique Tonight

Gladstone, Sept. 23—Seeking their third straight victory in as many starts, the undefeated Gladstone Braves travel to Manistique tonight to clash with the Emeralds under lights. The opening kickoff is at 8:30 o'clock.

The Braves likely will be minus the services of Capt. Harland "Buddy" Clark who has a chipped bone on one arm, X-rays disclose. If Capt. Clark watches the game from the bench his place likely will be taken by Larry Levelle.

While the dope favors the Braves in the outcome, the game is between natural rivals and is always hard fought. The Braves have won two games in impressive fashion while Manistique has dropped two close decisions while winning one.

Undoubtedly Les Young, elusive halfback, will see action tonight for he did some excellent work on both the St. Joseph and Munising battles.

Others making the trip are Don Pata, Richard Swenson, Hank DeMay, Joe and Jack Sutter, Harold Froberg, Jim LaLonde, Dick Sidbeck, Clarence King and Dallas Wixon.

STIQUE STOCK RISES WITH MINER'S RETURN

Manistique, Sept. 23—Although still seriously handicapped by the absence from the squad of a number of its most reliable players, Emerald grid stock went up several points by the news that Jack Miner, co-captain, has been given a doctor's O. K. and will play in tonight's game against Gladstone. Everett Patz, who also was a doubtful up to Wednesday night, will be back in his position as center.

Coach John Viergever expressed himself as pleased with the lineup selected to start the game. "One couldn't ask for better team material," he said, "but there are a number of these boys who have never really played in a game and its hard to tell how they will act when put to the test." They have showed up well in practice, however, he says.

Friday night's game is expected to bring out the season's largest crowd, the Chamber of Commerce and Elks lodge assisting in the attendance promotion. The game will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

Bark River, Steves Clash Sunday For Tri-County Cup

Bark River, Sept. 23—The chips will be down here Sunday afternoon when the Barks face Stephenson in the third and final playoff game for the Tri-County baseball league championship. The game will start at 2 p. m. Each team has one playoff victory to its credit and the outcome Sunday will determine the winner of the Tri-County crown for 1949.

Two weeks ago Stephenson won the first of the three-game series by 5-3 largely on the strength of a brilliant two-hit pitching chore by Bill Johnson. Last Sunday Bark River evened things up with an 8 to 1 win over the Steves with Ben Kleiman turning in a six-hitter and Wally Flath and Glenn Johnson doing the heavy hitting.

The surprise of the second playoff contest was the failure of Stephenson's heavy-hitters (and they have some) to get even one extra-base hit all afternoon. Dependable Ed LaCasse didn't get a single and A. Atkocunis and Bill Johnson, although picking up singles, were disappointed because they couldn't get at least a double. These boys, along with Tebo, Sundquist, Klein, Szabo, and Dainko, will be due to come through on Sunday.

On the Bark River side of the ledger, the boys who should tee off in this final playoff game will be Art Johnson, Frank Salvage, Eddie Mahnke, and Hustz Kleiman. All four of these potent sluggers went hitless last week although the hitting was ably taken care of by Wally Flath, Glenn Johnson, Gus Maycunich, Louis Derocher, and Ben Kleiman.

Manager Leo Knauf of Bark River will choose either Ben Kleiman or Ray Menard for pitching duties Sunday and Eddie Mahnke will catch. Although Menard has worked in most of the Bark's games this season, and has won many important league contests, Kleiman will probably get the nod because of his successful chore against the Steves last Sunday.

For Stephenson, Manager Mike Strolle will start Bill Johnson or B. Klein and Jimmy Szabo will catch if he has recovered from a finger injury received in last Sunday's tilt. If Szabo is still on the injured list, F. Cappart will do the catching.

The following three neutral umpires will do the officiating—Walter Dixon, Louis Bonnetti, and Albert Dallotore.

Northwestern, Purdue Open Big Ten Season

Tri-Club Golf At Gladstone

Gladstone, Sept. 23—Semifinal matches in the sixth annual Tri-Club golf tournament will begin at 2 tomorrow afternoon with Ray Hirn teeing off against Elmer Swanson and Harry Hogan matching strokes with Jim Fitzharris.

The winners will tangle at 2 Sunday afternoon for the championship. All matches are over the 18-hole route.

All remaining matches in other flights will be played off tomorrow afternoon.

The championship finals Sunday will not interfere with the Manistique-Gladstone inter-club affair.

Cubs Capture 2x3 From The Phillies

Chicago, Sept. 23 (P)—The Chicago Cubs made it two out of three from the Philadelphia Phillies by winning yesterday's series final, 3-2. Dewey Adkins went the route for the first time to gain his second victory.

Officers Check Lake Fish Nets

Patrol Boat No. 4
On Lake Superior

Marquette — Patrol boat No. 4, one of four boats placed in service by the conservation department for inspection of commercial fishermen's nets placed in Michigan waters of the Great Lakes, is now on its initial patrol of Lake Superior waters.

The 42-foot, steel, diesel-powered craft is equipped to handle both gill and trap nets, has depth-finding devices, and also has two-way radio communication to both conservation and state police stations. It is the latest boat to be added to Michigan's fleet.

The boat was built by the Marinette Marine corporation, Marinette, Wis., and placed in service on May 11 this year.

Before coming to Lake Superior, the boat had been on duty in Lake Michigan and has covered all Michigan ports in that lake and the Green Bay area. Practically every port has been visited in Lake Superior on the present assignment.

The boat carries a crew of two conservation officers at all times, and they are supplemented by local officers from the area in which they are working. Leonard McDonald of Alpena is in charge of the boat. McDonald has been in commercial fish work for 15 years, and was in the navy during World War II, before going to work for the conservation department. Lewis Forge, the other permanent officer on the boat, is from Bayport. He has been in commercial fish work for 20 years before coming on the boat as its maiden trip last May.

While on patrol the past two weeks, some 20,000 feet of small mesh trout nets were lifted and taken out of use. A like amount of herring nets were lifted when found illegally set. One pond net and one trap net were lifted when found set too close to the mouth of trout streams. Seven fishermen were taken into court and received fines of $50 to $100, along with court costs.

Tiger-Tribe Third Place Series Opens

Cleveland, Sept. 23 (AP) — Now never time is here for the Detroit Tigers.

They can virtually clinch third place in the American league by sweeping their three game series with the Cleveland Indians, opening here tonight.

And to get a good start, Manager Red Rolfe will send his ace fireballer, Virgil Trucks, to the pitching rubber in search of his 19th victory.

Trucks' opponent against the Indians—who now have lost four straight—will be big Gene Bearden, with an eight-eight record for the season.

By winning three games, the Tigers—who now lead the Indians by eight percentage points or one and a half games—could boost their average to .571.

To match that, the Clevelanders would have to sweep a three-game set-to in Chicago next week against the White Sox and then come back to take all three matches from the Tigers in the season finale.

During the Indian-White Sox series, the Tigers will be idle, since the Ohioans have three more games to play than they.

So the pressure in the three games beginning tonight will clearly be on the Indians—not that the Bengals themselves won't be keyed up.

At stake in the struggle is third place money for the players, ranging up to $700 per man, providing Yankee Stadium is one of the sites for the World Series.

If the Boston Red Sox, now two games behind the Yankees, should win out, the slice might be cut to $400 per player, because of the difference in the potential gates of the two parks.

The Tigers tonight will be cheered by the return of hard-hitting George Kell, out for several weeks with a broken bone in his wrist. His heavy bat could mean the difference in the series.

Recent Explosion Of Russian Atom Bombs Reported

blow up 35,000,000 people. There was no official hint as to how the United States obtained its evidence of the atomic explosion in Russia.

But it is known that American scientists have been ready with delicate instruments for months to record an atomic explosion anywhere in the world.

The text of Mr. Truman's statement: "I believe the American people, to the fullest extent consistent with National Security, are entitled to be informed of all developments in the field of atomic energy. That is my reason for making public the following information."

"We have evidence that within recent weeks an atomic explosion occurred in the U. S. R. R. "Ever since atomic energy was first released by man, the eventual development of this new force by other nations was to be expected. This probability has always been taken into account by us."

"Nearly four years ago I pointed out that 'scientific opinion appears to be practically unanimous that the essential theoretical knowledge upon which the discovery is based is already widely known. There is also substantial agreement that foreign research can come abreast of our present theoretical knowledge in time and, in the three-nation declaration of the President of the United States and the prime ministers of the United Kingdom and of Canada, dated November 15, 1945, it was emphasized that no single nation could in fact have a monopoly of atomic weapons."

"This recent development emphasizes once again, if indeed such emphasis were needed, the necessity for that truly effective enforceable international control of atomic energy which this government and the large majority of the members of the United Nations support."

"Kented the first day" said Smith.

Coal Miner Sues For Illegal Use Of Royalty Fund

BY JERRY KORN

Washington, Sept. 23 (AP)—A new note was introduced into the nation's coal situation today by a suit charging illegal use of the United Mine Workers Health and Welfare Fund.

The court action, brought yesterday by a 54-year-old miner, claimed that so much money has dribbled from the $100,000,000-a-year fund through payments to ineligible persons that "no amount of royalty payments" could repair the damage.

Miner C. H. Livengood of Fayette County, Pa., asked the federal court here to remove Fund Trustees John L. Lewis, Ezra Van Horn and Senator Bridges (R-NH) and appoint new ones answerable to the court.

Lewis, UMW chief currently negotiating for his striking miners with northern and western coal operators, is seeking a boost in the 20-cents-a-ton royalty which financed the fund under recently-expired contracts.

Livengood — a lifelong miner who had been receiving $100-a-month welfare payments until the fund recently suspended operations due to lack of money—charged that the fund never has been audited, although the contracts setting it up required such action annually.

He asked the court to require an accounting from the trustees, who he said were using their positions "as a means of wielding political power."

"The reason I brought this suit," he said in a statement, "was to get the racketeering out of the welfare and retirement fund and to protect the workers in the future from the uncontrolled administration of this fund."

Livengood said that as financial secretary of the UMW Local 6308 in Fayette county he was ordered to make welfare payments to ineligible miners, while some who were eligible couldn't get them.

Chatham

Rock River P. T. A. — The first meeting of the Rock River P. T. A. was held Thursday evening, Sept. 15, in the high school assembly at Eben.

Mrs. Toivo Seppi, new president, opened the meeting and presided at the business meeting. The meeting opened with the singing of the National Anthem with Mrs. Carl Zeno playing the piano accompaniment. Mrs. George Levis read the Parent-Teacher's prayer. The serving of dish washing after the session of the school lunch was brought up for discussion. It was suggested that parents volunteer to take turns to come to the school at noon for this purpose. Another suggestion was that an electric dish washer be purchased for each school. The question was tabled for subsequent discussion. Mr. Acker reported that the hot lunch program is self-supporting and that the program began this year with a surplus of about $150 in the treasury. Mrs. Seppi as a member of the pre-election committee and Mr. Acker, superintendent of schools, reported on the work done by the committee preceding the election and the results of the election. Because a majority of voters failed to vote at the polls, the election will be held again. The question voted on was a proposal to increase the millage in Rock River township in order to provide the funds necessary to complete the gymnasium.

P. T. A. officers, new teachers and new P. T. A. members present were presented by Mrs. Seppi. The program consisted of group singing directed by Miss Latola, high school music teacher with Mrs. Zeno playing the accompaniment. Lunch was served as usual in the homelike room. Hostesses were Mrs. Leslie Latvala, Mrs. Walfred Michelson, Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. Leo Pokela, Mrs. Eino Sturvist, Mrs. Donald Hakala, Mrs. Charles Maki and Mrs. Eino Lindquist.
